

THE UCLA FOOD STUDIES GRADUATE CERTIFICATE PROGRAM PRESENTS

GATHER

A PANEL DISCUSSION

SANJAY RAWAL

Sanjay, the director of Gather, spent 15 years working on human rights campaigns globally. Sanjay's work in film has been supported by Ford, Bertha, BritDoc, Fledgling, 11th Hour Project, NoVo, and the Omidyar Network. His work has won an assortment of honors including a James Beard Media Award.

NEPHI CRAIG

On the White Mountain Apache Reservation in Arizona, Nephi Craig, acclaimed chef and founder of the Native American Culinary Association, is attempting to establish a first-of-its-kind indigenous café where Apache chefs prepare Apache grown produce for Apache diners.

TRIA BLU WAKPA

Dr. Tria Blu Wakpa is an assistant professor in the UCLA Department of World Arts and Cultures/Dance. Blu Wakpa's research and teaching combines community-based and Indigenous methodologies to examine the politics and practices of dance and other movement practices in educational and carceral institutions for Indigenous peoples.